Why are We Here?

The overarching synergies between Risk Management and Resilience are becoming clearer with each passing day (and regulatory requirement…..)

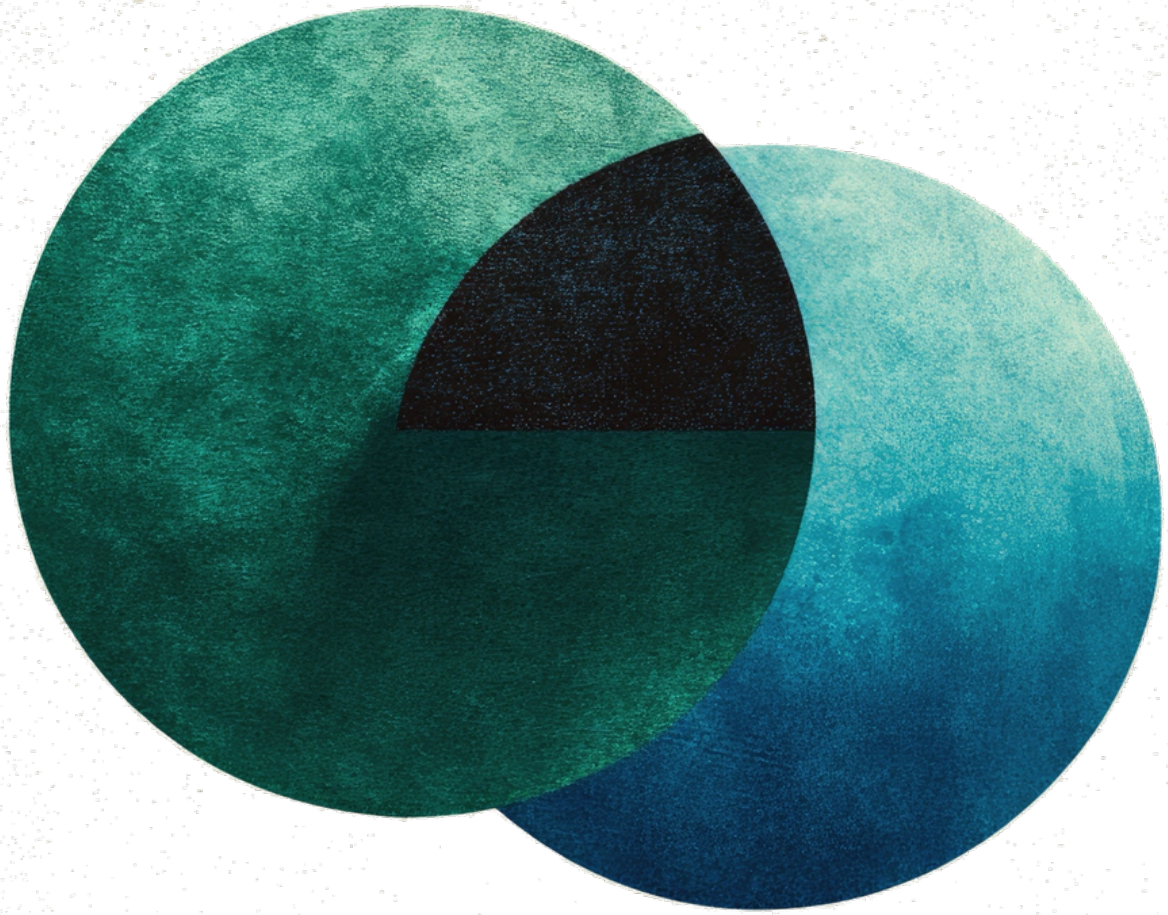

What's Driving This Change?

- Regardless of your industry, we are all operating in a VUCA environment
- We must stop planning to avoid disruptions
- We must move away from our departmental focus and fully embrace end-to-end processes, dependency mapping to increase resilience
- We must stop writing recovery plans that only address a portion of the process and/or non-critical processes

Aligning Risk and Resilience

- Not every risk can be predicted, quantified, or prevented; new capabilities are required
- Enterprise resilience requires a combined approach bridging risk management, business continuity, and resilience strategies into a single “system”
- Joint activities

Reinvent to Drive the Path to Integration

- Create and Empower a Joint Team
- Build the Foundation
- Formalize Data Model
