Identify What's Most Important – and Protect It

How can you protect the organization if you aren't even sure where to start? Riskconnect consultants will work with you to identify your most important products and services and prioritize your actions accordingly.

- Define how much resilience is needed to protect critical assets.
- Identify severe, yet plausible, scenarios that could disrupt your business.
- Design a sustainable program that works for the whole business.
- Define the roles, competencies, and people you need to succeed.

Bounce Back Faster

Can you confidently handle whatever crisis comes your way? Riskconnect consultants will help identify vulnerabilities and develop strategies to respond to any crisis, communicate with stakeholders, and recover – while minimizing harm to your finances and reputation.

- Work with each department to understand weaknesses, what's needed to deliver products and services, and how long a disruption can last before the consequences become unacceptable.
- Establish response and recovery requirements and single points of failure with business impact analysis (BIA) reports.
- Define and capture strategies in department-specific business continuity plans and organization-wide crisis management plans.
- Test your plan with realistic scenarios to make sure everything will run smoothly in the real world.
- Get specific recommendations – and a long-term roadmap – to improve your response abilities.

Get Help When You Need It Most

Is a lack of resources compromising your business continuity and resilience plans? Riskconnect consultants can act as an extension to your business continuity team, whether you need a little extra capacity – or a lot.

- Dial up or down the support you receive as your needs change.
- Get specialized support for regulatory compliance, go-to-market strategy, supplier needs, and more.
