

Riskconnect for the ENERGY INDUSTRY

Riskconnect software helps you manage the risks that cause catastrophic incidents, trigger massive regulatory action, and threaten your license to operate.

Prevent the incidents you can't take back. Track risks and hazards across refineries, pipelines, mines, offshore sites, and nuclear environments so you can act before they become explosions, spills, or fatalities.

Stay aligned with regulators on every site. Track requirements, controls, and audits in one system to maintain a clear audit trail, respond fast to inquiries, and avoid violations that lead to millions in fines and project delays.

Contain catastrophic risks. See how a single incident, supplier failure, or operational issue connects to the rest of the business to stop it from spreading into outages, regulatory action, and reputational damage.

Our projects were in spreadsheets, our risk registers were disjointed, and we couldn't accumulate data. We didn't have good visibility of how much of a risk we were exposed to in our portfolio. Riskconnect allows us to put all that data in a system that allows us to not only see on a cumulative basis – by product, system, business unit, or enterprise-wide – what our risk exposure is, but also see similarity between type of services, products, and projects and learn from it.

Maintain a Safe Work Environment

A refinery explosion or pipeline spill can be catastrophic for lives, the environment, and your reputation.

Riskconnect can help you track risks and hazards to prevent injury and protect life on job sites – from mining to deep-water installations and nuclear environments – before they escalate into disasters.

Eliminate Blind Spots

Even the slightest unknown has the potential to cause outsized damage to operations, reputation, and the bottom line.

Riskconnect gives you enterprise-wide risk visibility, instant access to dynamic business continuity plans, and proactive threat monitoring for faster, fact-based decisions that make risk work in your favor.

Prevent Compliance Missteps

A single oversight in such a highly regulated industry can spark millions in fines, delay projects, and inflict lasting reputational damage.

Riskconnect has built-in compliance tracking to help you stay on top of ever-tightening rules, maintain a clear audit trail, and automatically align with important industry regulations.
